the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is expected to increase from 1.1 billion to 1.5 billion (United Nations 1998).

There are a number of reasons why the number of children in the world is increasing. One of the main reasons is that the number of children who are surviving to adulthood is increasing. This is due to a number of factors, including improved medical care, better nutrition, and a decrease in child mortality rates.

Another reason why the number of children in the world is increasing is that the number of children who are being born is increasing. This is due to a number of factors, including a decrease in the age at which women are having children, and an increase in the number of children who are being born to women who are already mothers.

There are a number of challenges that are associated with the increasing number of children in the world. One of the main challenges is that there is a need for more resources to care for these children. This includes more schools, more healthcare, and more social services.

Another challenge is that there is a need for more jobs to support these children. This is because many children are living in poverty, and they need to be able to support themselves and their families. This is a challenge that is being faced by many countries around the world.

There are a number of ways that we can address these challenges. One way is to invest in education and healthcare. This will help to ensure that children are able to reach their full potential, and that they are able to support themselves and their families.

Another way is to create more jobs. This will help to support children and their families, and it will help to reduce poverty. This is a challenge that is being faced by many countries around the world, and it is one that we need to address if we want to create a better future for all children.

There are a number of things that we can do to help children in the world. We can donate to organizations that are helping children, we can volunteer our time, and we can simply be kind to children. All of these things can make a difference in the lives of children, and they can help to create a better world for all of us.

Children are the future of our world, and we need to make sure that they have a bright future. This means that we need to invest in them, and we need to make sure that they have the resources that they need to succeed. This is a challenge that is being faced by many countries around the world, and it is one that we need to address if we want to create a better future for all children.
